

critical food studies

INDABA

organised by the intra-institutional programme

critical food studies

Transdisciplinary humanities approaches

18 November 2019 • 9:30-13:00

Howard College Theatre, Howard College Campus, UKZN, Durban

Draft Programme

1. Opening and Welcome: Prof Nhlanhla Mkhize (DVC: College of Humanities)
2. Panel of Speakers:
 - i. Prof Vasu Reddy (Dean of Humanities, UP): "What is Critical Food Studies?"
 - ii. Prof Desiree Lewis (Professor in Women's and Gender Studies, UWC): "How can critical food studies expand humanities scholarship: the CFS Programme funded by the Mellon Foundation"
Prof Hassan Kaya (Director and Research Leader, DST-NRF Centre in Indigenous Knowledge Systems): "Indigenous Knowledge Systems in the Evolutionary Diversity of African Food Cultures."
 - iii. Prof Lebo Moletsane (Jl Dube Chair in Rural Education): "Food, Gender and Materiality in Rural Communities: Some Methodological Reflections"
 - iv. Dr Donna Andrews (Postdoctoral researcher and food studies scholar): "Potential for postgraduate research through the CFS Programme: some remarks from a postdoctoral researcher"

Please note: Discussion, critique, expressions of interest in the programme, and clarification are strongly encouraged after the panelists' short presentations.

www.criticalfoodstudies.co.za